

at the dinner on Tuesday where we were the happy guests of Mrs. Franklin, after we had heard from Miss Mason a sparkling account of her travels in Canada for the "Suffragette" Congress, our hostess gave us a talk on the beginnings of the P.N.U. & her friendships with Mrs. Mason.

It was in 1892 that a young mother came across the Parents Review (when having Magazine which was to be "helpful to young mothers." Mrs. Franklin was so enthusiastic about Mrs. Mason that she wrote to her asking for — up she might call on her at Cambridge Mass. — She was soon up from the window by Mrs. Mason "a young woman in a black dress walking up the avenue." Thus began a friendship for life. Mrs. Franklin, a young mother becoming the close disciple of the 30-year educationist. They met to an average almost every day - Miss Mason & others were full not only of devotion but of reason & wisdom - At that time Miss Mason was not very young - but she was active, & she retained her youthful spirit into old age - (Story of costs, remember about food - costs diminished?)

Miss Mason went daily for drives & on these she nearly always found wild flowers or noticed interesting birds - She had lunch with the students & talked with them of her discussion & their.

At that time Miss Mason gave lectures on her methods of Education - She sat alone also & thought deeply about children & their needs - She had a deep love for children & respect for them as persons - In this she was a pioneer - The personality of children had not before been acknowledged & respected in the way - The group of young parents in P.N.E.U. gave to her the wisdom

• ~~important~~: The booklet made contact to one another - You have been advised • the P.W. & D. group - important.

Mary James - interesting people went at this House - Rudyard Kipling wrote this at Torquay. (Originals of first movement -) Mrs. Robert - I played introduced beautiful handwriting copies - Musical appreciation was introduced to the programme by Mrs. Howard - She was among the first to realize that it was not sufficient to teach children to play a little on some one instrument, but that they should have the opportunity of hearing beautiful music & learning to understand it. Her son saw the value of more good music from early on & Mrs. James played to him & introduced when he was 2 1/2 years old. Mrs. James was present his mother asked him "what shall I play - he quoted the name of Wagner! Mrs. James then asked Mrs. James to organize the programme.

for historical appreciation & the study term by term of the works & lives of the Composers.

Conferences were arranged, including special ones for children, at the first at Warwick & the second at Whitby. He transferred the Director of State Education (?) for Gloucestershire into T. H. into the Council Library & was able to prove that these children could appreciate & enjoy great books as well as the children from primary homes. This was an intense joy to Miss Mason. - - - - -

Death has carried away yet another member of the P.N.E.U. Executive and of the Ambleside Council.

We shall all miss Mrs. Clement Parsons from among our midst. Her innate diffidence prevented her from making herself very vocal at Committee meetings, but the sense of her help, ^{ful} understanding of and sympathy with all Miss Mason and her followers stood for made her a most valuable member and, by her advice before and after the meetings, she contributed much wisdom which her colleagues greatly valued.

She followed the introduction of P.N.E.U. methods into the Primary schools of Gloucestershire with the greatest interest and helped to introduce them into the schools in her neighbourhood and she greatly influenced these schools by her own joy in literature and her readings to the children. Her management of the village lending library, which she conducted with untiring energy and regularity, will not soon be forgotten.

Her lectures were marked by wit and grace, and charming literary style. Almost the first one, given in London, dealt with the ugliness of the food in the ordinary middle-class household. Her last delightful article in "Life & Letters" on "Children's Bread" has the sparkle and the satire which we associate with her pen.

She was generous in lecturing to P.N.E.U. audiences and the B.E.C. made her known to the world as an authority on Mrs. Siddons. She contributed not infrequently to our pages

.....(Miss Kitching please insert titles of articles.)

and her list of "Recommended Gift Books for Children" has had three editions and is bought at all Conferences by many.

Her homes in London and in Worcestershire were real homes, characterized by hospitality, friendliness, thought and beauty. Those who were privileged to call her friend will miss her until they too are called.
